

Understanding market-based generation pricing

All Ohio utilities participate in a market-based auction for electric generation supply.

An independent third party with oversight by the Public Utility Commission of Ohio (PUCO) conducts the auction.

How are rates set?

- Generation rates are set on the auction date.
- Rates are set by market conditions and not AES Ohio.

When will I see adjusted supply charges?

- New generation rates will go into effect June 1, 2023, for one year.

For more information on market-based generation pricing visit:

aes-ohio.com/generation-prices

Residential customers

Payment assistance

If you are having trouble paying your bill, one of these assistance programs could help you.

- The state of Ohio has programs available based on your household income and other eligibility requirements
- Utility bill payment assistance or help finding lower-cost options contact United Way 211
- AES Ohio to provide emergency relief funding to customers through the Gift of Power program

aes-ohio.com/payment-assistance

31120-I-0108

aes Ohio